PITTSYLVANIA

(Robinson p164 Chart No2)

NORTH CAROLINA

Preface

When Virginia named Pittsylvania County for William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, the celebrated English statesman and great friend of the American Colonies she really went all out to honor the man who took such a prominent part in securing repeal of the odious Stamp Act of 1766 because she also named the county seat Chatham (Robinson 188).

Pittsylvania was formed 1767 from Halifax which had been formed 1752 from Lunenburg which had come out of Brunswick in 1745. At that time Pittsylvania embraced the present Patrick and Henry both formed in 1777. The County has been its present size since that date.

Pittsylvania Order Book I states that the first Court was held on Friday 26 June 1767. Justices present were: Thomas Dillard, Archibald Gordon, Hugh Innes, James Roberts, John Donelson, Theophilus Lacy, John Wilson, Peter Copland, John Hanly, Harmon Critz, John Dix, Peter Perkins, George Jefferson and Benjamin Lankford.

William Tunstall was first County Clerk; first Sheriff, Benjamin Lankford, his deputies Abram Shelton and William Ward.

Producing licences to practise as attorneys-at-law were Isaac Read, Edmund Winston and John Williams, Gentlemen.

The first County Lieutenant was John Donelson (McAllister pp 100-101) who lived at "Markham" on Banister River 12 miles east of Chatham. He became one of the founders of Tennessee and father of Rachel who married Andrew Jackson seventh President of the United States.

The first Burgesses to represent the new County of Pittsylvania in the House of Burgesses, Assembly of 17 May 1769, were John Donelson and Hugh Innes.

The old Book of Surveys in the court house shows an interesting plat of the first survey of the present town of Chatham in 1807 then called Competition because of the inability of the Pittsylvanians to decide on the location of the County Seat.

There were 8 acres laid off in half acre lots by Joshua Stone, surveyor. His fee was $12.00. The trustees of the town to voted this expenditure were: Daniel Coleman, John Dabney, Thomas M. Clark, William Tunstall, Joseph Lankford, Francis Dabney, Joseph Carter and William Young. Col. Daniel Coleman was appointed President and it was ordered that Francis Dabney be appointed Clerk of the Board.

James F. Johnston bought lots 1, 2 and 3; the rest of the lots were sold as follows: Godfrey Burnett nos. 4 and 10; John Hall no. 5; William Clark nos. 6 and 8; William Rawlins no. 7; George

M. Watson no. 9; Francis Dabney no. 11; and Josiah Ferguson, Jr., no. 12.

One thing that puzzled me about the Pittsylvania records was the duplicate marriages. Obviously the same couple, there would be several years difference between the bonds and the ministers' returns. And "curiouser and curiouser" as Alice in Wonderland says, the ministers' return often ante dated the bond. And that just can't be. Where there was a modicum of doubt as to there being two couples I have let both stand. The following are samples: John Kendrick married Ann Neal in 1780 and in 1782; Thomas Bleakley married Rebecca Ward in 1796 and again in 1800; William Dodson married Tabitha Hendrick in 1794 and in 1796; Richard White married Peggy Donald in 1767 and Margaret Donald in 1768. The last are two different bonds with two different sureties. Henry Perkins married Bethinia Cabell in 1796 and Bethania Cahall in 1802; Martin Wilson married both Rhoda Wilson and Rhoda Stamps in 1800. There two entries for every above cited marriage in the Pittsylvania Marriage Register. I could and did check the date of the bond by the original bond but I found no original list of ministers' returns by which to check the register.

One piece of luck befell me in Chatham. I met Mrs. Randolph V. Overbey in the Court House. She is not an employee so it was pure chance that brought her to me. She calls herself an amateur genealogist but the way she operates I'd designate her as professional and one of the best at that. She worked right with me copying things I'd find or finding things for me to copy. Nobody knows what it meant to me to have her very efficient help. Should any one need assistance in Pittsylvania her address is Box 53, Chatham, Virginia.

In the Court House is a record of the formation of Camden Parish of the Episcopal Church. This was one of the priceless things Hensen Overbey brought to my attention.

Camden Parish, Pittsylvania County was formed the same year as the County, the first meeting of the Vestry being held 21 June 1767. The following were vestrymen present: John Donaldson, John Pigg, Hugh Innes, George Rowland, Crispin Shelton, John Willson, Peter Perkins, Abraham Shelton, Theophilus Lacy, Robert Chandler and William Witcher. Benjamin Lankford was appointed Clerk of the Vestry and George Rowland and Abraham Shelton were appointed Church Wardens. Lewis Morgan was Reader of the new Parish. He was to "read at the Chappell at Snow Creek, Potter's Creek and at the house of William Heard".

The first Rector seems to have been Rev. Alexander Gordon who "came unto the Vestry and agrees for 1000 pounds of tobacco to preach at Abraham Shelton's, at the Meeting House at Potter's Creek, at Snow Creek Chappell, at John Vanbebber's, Peter Copeland's, Haman Crites and Edward Smith's".

The Chatham Chamber of Commerce publishes a little brochure setting forth the advantages of living in such a sweet, shady, quiet place. From it I learned that modern Pittsylvania County has an annual tobacco crop of twenty million dollars. So tobacco is still a legal tender just as it was in Rev. Gordon's day. And there must be something more to Chatham than shade and quiet. The folder doesn't say a word about the courtesy of the people. I parked my car, marched in the bank and asked where was the County Clerk's office. A gentleman took me clear out on the side walk and pointed out the Court House next door that I had passed in my preoccupation with finding a place to park on the busy main street. And look at the way Hensen Overbey pitched in to help me the very first time she ever laid eyes on me!

The Chamber of Commerce is right when it says: "Chatham: a wonderful place to raise a family." If I had another family to raise I'd be right there.
